Refurbishing of Borough Hall Gym Gains Momentum, Fund Drive Planned

HIDDEN ASSET: Hidden behind trees and shrubbery, the former Miss Fine's School gym, now known as the Borough Hall gym, could become a valuable community asset after refurbishing plans are completed.

Three anonymous donors have already sent in checks to supplement the $22,110 the Borough expects from the state to make the Borough Hall gym habitable and the Princeton Senior Citizens Club – which has close to 500 members – will launch a fund-raiser early this fall.

Meanwhile, architect E. Harvey Myers is sharpening the rough estimates he gave Borough Council for making the cinder-block structure useable and he expects to have those final figures in about a week. He says he expects to be within the $29,500 figure he gave the Borough two weeks ago.

"I'm delighted at his thoroughness," Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week. "The more he does, the less time we'll lose while the state goes over our application."

That application for funds is scheduled to be formally signed either late this week or early next week, Mayor Cawley said.

In Mr. Myers' proposed Phase I, $29,500 would be used to make the building habitable and meet code requirements. He says he has already obtained permission from Public Service to run a gas line into the building for heating purposes, eliminating the cost of oil and a tank.

He is planning to confer with the donor of a heating unit to make sure the gift meets size requirements, he said. Mr. Myers' own professional services are donated.

Present plans call for overall supervision of the Senior Citizens Center in the gym by Denise King, who is the recreation department's advisor to the Princeton Senior Citizens Club. Working under her will be an employee, salary paid with CETA money, who will be at the gym full time doing scheduling and developing programs with Ms. King and members of the club.

Ms. King said that she will talk with the Council of Community Services on such matters as health programs, machinery for referring senior citizens to whatever agencies they need, coordination with activities that are held in other places around the community and so on.

Hoped For Decisions Not Reached on Palmer Square Broad Options Will Be Refined by Small Committee

"Tonight was the night we were going to make the decisions – frankly, we haven't."

At 11:30 Tuesday, after four hours of talk and a final, labored blocking out of some half-dozen preferences for Palmer Square, the Citizens Steering Committee went home.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley, after remarking ruefully that tonight was the night we were going to make decisions, announced that he would name a small group to refine the broad options voted on by the committee Monday night.

Earlier on Tuesday, Mayor Cawley had said that over the past 10 days, in talks that went back and forth among Margen Penick and Hans K. Sander of the Steering Committee; Carl Schafer, president of Palmer Square, Inc., Sam Hamill of Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council, and himself, PSI had promised to be more flexible in its planning. Mr. Schafer had also indicated that PSI might take another look at housing, Mayor Cawley said. Original PSI plans had included housing, which was later removed and replaced by office space.

However, this flexibility was not in evidence Tuesday night, nor was there evidence that PSI might look again at housing. Michael Feldman, PSI vice-president, and Mr. Schafer said repeatedly that they would have to look over the new plans that were displayed and explained Tuesday, and there seemed to be no change in positions that they have taken before.

These are the broad areas of agreement reached by the Steering Committee – which includes Mr. Schafer and Mr. Feldman among its members:

- A plaza next to the public library with ground-level parking at its rear on space that might be used later for a small garage, if needed.
- PCH housing west of the present Playhouse as a first-choice location.
- Parking for 150 cars half-underground, probably under the space where the east Playhouse parking lot now is.
- The kind of retail space in which stores face sidewalks, as now. This, as opposed to stores facing a purely pedestrian space.
- An extension of the present appearance of Palmer Square, with a "Racetrack" consisting of Palmer Square West continued to a Palmer Square North, around to a Palmer Square East, and so on. Alana Wallack and Nelson van den Blink voted against this; Mayor Cawley and Ann McGoldrick abstained.

Eugene McPartland, for Princeton University, wanted the Steering Committee to leave the PCH housing question looser, and to include "sufficient parking," but Mrs. McGoldrick gave a quick veto to that one, and she was sustained.

Other agreements were reached on a broad basis, eventual expansion of the library, two garages

Final Report, Backing Consolidation, Released by Commission

The final report of the Joint Municipal Consolidation Study Commission, with its unanimous recommendation that Borough and Township be merged into "The Town of Princeton," was released this Wednesday. It is coming out two weeks ahead of the August 7 deadline set by state law, and with money left over in the budget.

The full, 150-page document will be available in both municipal buildings and in the public library, but not for circulation because there aren't enough copies. The basic report of 74 pages is being mailed to those who served on the Commission's citizen groups and to candidates and key people in both political parties.

On November 6, voters in both Borough and Township will be asked to decide whether the two municipalities should be consolidated "and governed under the borough form of government with a mayor and six members of council to be elected at-large."

The ballot will clearly say "For Consolidation" and "Against Consolidation."

The first and seventh chapters of the final report have been so written that they can be taken out of the whole and distributed by themselves, and the Commission plans to do this in September. The Commission decided that it would not, as a body, campaign for consolidation, but individual members are expected to do so. And, with the money left over in the budget, the Commission will mail summaries of the report to all voters early in the fall.

If the vote is "yes," the new government would come into being on January 1, 1981 – some 14 months after the vote.

The report is the second one to the community. A preliminary report, criticized by three of the five members of Township Committee and not commented on at all by Borough Council, was released in early May.

A joint letter from Township Mayor Josie Hall and Committee member Hugo Hoogenboom, written July 9, states that they regard the preliminary report and its sub-committee reports as "disappointingly flat and bland."

The report, they say, "consistently avoids analyzing the difficult questions and either ignores or papers over the real and sharp differences between the two municipalities. If the final report does not overcome these shortcomings, the voters will lack the information they should have to make their decision."

The two authors declare that the preliminary report fails to satisfy what they call the first rule for making changes: "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

They assert that the fiscal analysis study consists of "undigested, untranslated computer-generated tables and graphs. There is little attempt to summarize the analysis or to tie the analysis into the 'Introduction and Executive Summary.' " They also charge that the report fails to show that the drawing together of the tax rates of Borough and Township is "anything but a temporary distortion."

Consolidation

The report on administrative structures and municipal services, they say, "consists mainly of a series of assertions unsupported by analysis or facts."

Their colleague — and fellow Republican — William Cherry, says in his written comment that "there is no municipal activity that cannot be advantageously consolidated."

"Action by either of the two municipal governments," he writes, "has a heavy impact on the residents of the other municipality, yet these residents do not have the right of voting to affect that government."

Because of this, Mr. Cherry states, "it is a moral imperative and a matter of justice that the municipal governments be consolidated straight away."

Commenting on the Planning Board, which is a joint Borough-Township body, Mr. Cherry says that "planning...on a community-wide basis seems to me so undebatable that I shall accept it as a given.

"Nevertheless, the two groups of (Planning Board) members from the two present municipalities, represent two independent tax bases," and he warns of "a latent temptation" push off onto the other municipality those developments that cost more than they return in taxes.

Mr. Cherry says he doesn't agree that problems in the school system were caused by merger. As sending districts — including the Township — peeled away from the Borough's high school, he says, the Borough itself might have ended up as a Township sending district.

No Real Parallel. Winthrop Pike, president of the school board, says he does not see "any real parallel between school merger and municipal consolidation."

"By almost any objective criteria," he says, "our schools turn out students who are considerable achievers.... That school merger is the sole cause, or even the most important cause of (cost) escalation is, in my opinion, absolutely false."

David Blair was the other Township Committee member who gave the Consolidation Commission his thoughts on the preliminary report. Kate Litvack did not comment.

Mr. Blair said that, in his view, the facts in the report could lead to a negative opininn about consolidation as well as the Commission's positive one. He suggested studying the merged school system as a model to see whether it had performed according to what was expected nf it.

Mr. Blair also said he had "very strong doubts" about extending the Borough's rent levelling ordinance to the Township. "It would have a long-term impact upon housing in the Township," he warned, and said he would object to any automatic extension of rent control.

The question of possible comment on the preliminary report was never raised in Borough Council, said Mayor Robert W. Cawley. A copy of the report was mailed to each Council member and to the mayor.

Council has, however, acted on the question of future bonded indebtedness by blocking out a schedule which includes a possible $4 million bond issue next year for construction of a parking garage. If consolidation is passed by the voters, Mayor Cawley pointed out, the Borough might need Township Committee approval of such a bond issue unless Council had already taken preparatory steps.

Mayor Cawley said that if the question of comment had been brought up, he would have suggested the Township approach of individual response by elected officials.

"The question is not feasability," the mayor said. "I think we have guessed for a long time that it's feasible. The real question is desirability."

Speaking to "desirability," the Commission in Chapter I of its report, observes both sides:

Source of Divisiveness. "Many residents find two separate municipal governments a source of divisiveness, inefficiency and confusion. They want to translate their sense of a single Princeton community into the fact of a single Princeton government. For them, the conclusion that consolidation is feasible is reason enough to support...."

"Others ask, 'could we not adequately meet the future and act cooperatively while preserving the two separate governments, while preserving that which is familiar and even dear, to so many?' They fear a loss of access to government ... they fear that a single Princeton will be something far bigger than the sum of its now two small parts."

But the Commission says it believes that consolidation under a borough form of government is the best way to preserve the quality of representation the town how has, and says that "in consolidating, we will continue to be a small town."

The report underscores its conclusions in terms of concern for the future. The Commission says it believes that only a consolidated Princeton can direct future development in such a way that the qualities associated with a small town can be retained.

Rosedale To Be Repaired

Rosedale Road will be closed to through traffic for the next two weeks while the County resurfaces the section between Elm Road and Province Line Road.

Township police report work will begin this Wednesday. Rosedale will be open to local traffic only between 9 and 4 but will be open to all traffic in the evenings and on weekends.

Borough Hall Gym

She added that she expected a kind of satellite system to be formed, so that home-bound elderly people will be able to participate in various programs.

Walter Coan, who is president of the Princeton Senior Citizens Club, emphasized this week that the gym will be open to all, not just to senior citizens.

He said that Laurie Vance Johnson had asked for a place to display art, and the club has told her that will indeed be possible. Princeton's fire companies have inquired about permission to hold quiet tournaments in the basement, he said.

"We want all kinds of people to use that building," Mr. Coan declared. "We have no intention of confining its use to senior citizens. After all, it's the taxpayers who own it. We just hope they'll help us financially to make it useable."

FOR A FUTURE PARK: The diagonally striped area is the 8.8 acres remaining in the Van Dyke Wight estate which the Township plans to set aside for recreational purposes. It lies across the proposed Terhune Road extension from the 23 acre parcel that was one of the Township's original purchases under its open space plan.

TOPICS
Of The Town

8.8 ACRES SOUGHT

For Open Space. Princeton Township is seeking to purchase 8.8 acres of land off Snowden Lane to add to open space. The parcel is the balance of the Van Dyke Wight estate, from which 23 acres across the proposed Terhune (All Saints') Road extension were purchased several years ago.

Part of the L-shaped acreage fronts on Snowden Lane, the rest extends behind the original Van Dyke Wight house, now owned by Sidney Souter, along the lines of the proposed Terhune Road extension. It has been high on the Environmental Commission's priority list for acquiring additional acreage for parks and playgrounds.

The original 23 acres in the Van Dyke Wight tract is undeveloped, but is being held for active recreation for the eastern section of the community in anticipation of the time when Community Park becomes overburdened.

The asking price for the land is reportedly $10,000 an acre. Township Committee has set aside $85,000 in its capital budget for the purchase of the property, which would not be financed with Green Acres funding.

Mr. Souter has expressed an interest in acquiring about 2.5 acres of the land beside his own property on Snowden Lane and his willingness to contribute $25,000 on the basis of the present asking price.

However, it was the consensus of Township Committee at its work session last Wednesday to go ahead with the whole purchase, since most of the money had been set aside in the capital budget and is therefore outside the cap law.

OBJECTIONS RAISED

To Water Rate Increase. Township Committee has drafted a letter to the Elizabethtown Water Company to protest a proposed rate increase for water service.

The Company is requesting an increase of $5,743,000, to be effective January 1, 1980. No date has been scheduled as yet before the Public Utilities Commission that rules on such applications.

The Company has said that half the increase is required to finance capital improvement, and the remainder to offset higher costs for power, chemicals, labor and a "miscellany of other increased expenses." The Company maintains that the increase would amount to 29 cents a week for the average household, or $15 a year.

The largest addition is the construction of another coagulation-sedimentation basic and associated sludge lagood, which will be located at the Company's central plant in Bridgewater. The cost is estimated at 4½ million.

William Cherry, at last Wednesday's meeting of Township Committee, noted that the $4½ million is a one-time expense that presumably could be amortized over a period of ten or 15 years; the proposed rate increase is for $5½ million annually -- until the next rate increase, he suggested.

Committee instructed Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini to write the Water Company objecting to the rate increase and pointing out that the capital costs as outlined don't seem to warrant the large amount sought. The Company has said that other capital costs include improvements to the Stony Brook Plant, new pipes and correction work, including work in Princeton, and other reinforcement work and well development.

"My contention is that they have owed us those new pipes for a long time," commented Mayor Josie Hall, who had met this spring with officials of the water company in an attempt to solve the problem of brown tap water in certain areas of the town.

Fire Hydrant Increase. What Mayor Hall, who is also Fire Commissioner, particularly objects to is the increase in the fire hydrant rnte from $89 to $104 per year for each hydrant. The Township's bill for fire hydrant rental for the month of June was $2,247.25, and this $15 increase for each hydrant would raise that amount by more than 16 percent.

Committee also objects to the diminishing rate structure on which Elizabethtown Water Company bases its charges. Committee points out that a diminishing rate structure encourages people to use excessive water, because the consumption charge goes down the more water is used.

In other business, Committee adopted a resolution asking the Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority to initiate a feasibility study for solar assisted sludge handling using the old Princeton sewer plant. The resolution specified that such a study must be completed within six months of signing of the contract. An amendment to the flood plain ordinance was adopted to include Mountain Brook and its smaller side streams.

GARBAGE? NO!

Witherspoon Protests. When a garbage truck compacts the garbage, it squeezes all the juice out. On Witherspoon, just below Nassau, tenants and property-owners complain that these juices not only run down the gutter, medieval fashion, but have actually produced a curb-to-curb slime on the street.

Indignant, 277 residents and business people in the Nassau-to-Spring block have petitioned Borough Council for a redress. Council will receive and discuss the petition at this Thursday's 8 p.m. work session in Borough Hall.

Henry Arnold, architect with offices at 40 Witherspoon, joined another architect, Pierre Coutin, 14½ Witherspoon, and they circulated the petition.

"Twice in one month, the Borough sanded the slime that stretched across the street, but that doesn't really solve it," Mr. Arnold explained, "And you can't just hose it down because so much of it is greasy. It's the method of handling the pick-up that is the problem, and I hate to think what will happen if they expand this area, as they are talking about doing."

The stretch in question has a concentration of restaurants as well as apartments, which means that the volume is greater than it is on other blocks, Mr. Arnold pointed out.

By co-incidence, Council will also consider garbage bids at Thursday's work session. Garbage in the Borough is collected by a private firm under contract to the municipality.

DINKY LEASE?

To discuss with State. The State and the Borough may be coming down the track toward final agreement on leasing the old Dinky station at the foot of University Place.

Representatives of the Division of Rights of Way of the Department of Transportation will hold closed-door talks this Thursday with Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Council members during Borough Council's work session.

The Borough wants to lease the entire station complex -- building and land, but not track -- from the DOT. Plans of the Victoria Station restaurant firm to convert the property into a restaurant whose proceeds would help keep the Dinky shuttling, are contingent on Borough success in leasing the property from the State.

Lester Finch of the DOT, said this week that he hopes Council will decide at Thursday's meeting to tell its attorney to draw up an agreement with the DOT.

"After that," Mr. Finch said, "we need a Borough feasibility study to see what that Dinky site can support, and we'd like to see such a study completed by next summer."

He said the DOT would like "the highest possible rate of return" from the property which, in turn, depends on the kind of use.

"This is a very positive joint development venture," he said, "we see Princeton as a show-case for other communities around the state."

Also at Thursday's work session, Council will discuss a resolution of support for construction of upstream sewer plants for Pennington and Hopewell Borough. The resolution has been requested by the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority.

Council has been asked to pass another resolution extending the grant of the Consolidation Study Commission which expires August 7. The Commission itself has completed its work (see page one, this issue) and came in under its budget; however, the extension is required as a state bookkeeping matter.

CONTINUED: BRENWOOD

Before Zoniog Board. Discussion of Brenwood Building Associates' plans for a one-story, six-unit apartment building at State Road and Ewing will continue this Wednesday before the Township Zoning Board. The 7:30 p.m. meeting will be held in the Valley Road Building, not in Township Hall.

Brenwood needs a use variance because multiple dwellings are not a permitted use in that part of the Township. Presentation of the case bagan last month and was continued to this July meeting.

The board will also consider the request of Florence Kahn for permission to use off-street parking for the premiscs at 9 Birch Avenue. Mrs. Kahn's husband, Dr. Steven P. Kahn, wants to use the former church structure for his medical offices.

DRIVER SUCCOMBS

To Accident Burns. Lawrence K. Brown, 24, of Canal Road, Griggstown was burned to death early Monday morning when his car ran off the road, smashed into a tree and burst into flames.

Mr. Brown and his passenger, Victoria Bucci, 21, of Spring Hill Road, Skillman, were both taken to Princeton Medical Center following the 12:48 a.m. accident where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Miss Bucci was admitted to the intensive care unit suffering from a chest injury, fractured jaw, burns and a concussion.

Franklin Township police report that the accident occurred on Canal Road a short distance from Old George Town Road. Trapped inside the flaming wreckage, Mr. Brown was freed by firemen and members of the Rocky Hill rescue squad. Because police have been unable to question Miss Bucci, the cause of the accident is still under investigation.

He is survived by his mother, Jane Z. Brown of Trenton; his father, Donald W. Brown of Chicago, Ill.; two brothers, Donald T. and Christopher G. Z. Brown, both of Princeton; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Brown of Edwardsville, Ill.; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Zinninter of Cherry Hill.

The service will be held at the convenience of the family.

Cyclist Injured. Barbara Hacker, 22, of the Graduate College, was injured last week when she collided with an open car door while riding her bicycle on Nassau Street.

Thrown to the roadway by the impact, Ms. Hacker was taken to the Medical Center for treatment of a fractured left clavicle and laceration of the forehead.

The driver, Clara N. Harrison of Gaylord, Mich., told police that she was getting out of her car after parking between Witherspoon and Tulane Street and did not see the cyclist approaching. There were no charges by Ptl. William Hunter.

Improper Turn. In another mishap involving a car and a bicycle last week, the driver of the car was charged by police with making an improper turn.

Police said that Deborah A. Jefferson, 20, was traveling behind a bicyclist on the Princeton-Kingston Road when the cyclist, 15-year old Carl D. Rice of 138 Poe Road, moved from the side of the road into the center in the process of making a left turn onto Poe.

When Miss Jefferson attempted to pass the cyclist on the left, she struck the left rear wheel of his bicycle. The youth was taken to Princeton Medical Center for observation after complaining of pain in his leg. Ptl. Peter Savalli issued the turning summons to Miss Jefferson.

MANAGER ROBBED

Of $6,000. The manager of the Prince Theater on Route 1 was robbed of more than $6,000 in receipts Sunday as he tried to deposit them at a New Jersey National Bank branch in Lawrence Township.

The manager, Joseph Robbins, 42, of Trenton told police that his key to the night deposit lock had stuck and as he twisted the key in try to get it open, a man wielding a club came at him. Mr. Robbins fled

What a lovely

Anyone looking for really clear weather had best get on the track and go somewhere else, because the hazy sunshine and high humidity that have been around for the last couple of weeks will continue at least into Saturday. The weatherman keeps promising a break in the pattern, but any change is likely to be very brief.

Temperatures should get up into the 90's during the latter part of the week, with sunshine the rule for most of each day. Showers and thundershowers are always a possibility, but impossible to forecast with any certainty before they hit.

'Save The Playhouse' Sentiment Is Surging!!

NOW we must buttress this ground swell of community support by putting our pocketbooks where our petition was. Yes, the Playhouse is re-opening temporarily for movies. But NO, this does NOT mean the Playhouse has been saved from the wrecker's ball.

Our Phase #1 is in progress: A separate urban design scheme for downtown Princeton, one that retains the Playhouse and will also be completed shortly. This new study by Venturi and Rauch will cost $7,500 and is essential to our current argument and any further involvement in the Playhouse project.

Won't you demonstrate your commitment to Princeton's future by helping pay for this study.. Please write your tax-deductible check payable to:

This is the petition with over 100 signatures presented to Mayor Cawley on July 9, 1979:

WHEREAS the central business district of Princeton needs a focal point and sense of identity if it is to survive as a place where people come to shop, gather with friends, and BE all the things the word "Town" implies, and

WHEREAS the Playhouse Theatre has the potential to become this focal point as a center for the performing arts, offering concerts, ballet, theatre, films and even opera, to supplement McCarter, and

WHEREAS experts in this field have advised us the Playhouse can easily and effectively be converted to a multi-purpose auditorium at moderate cost with its stage extended and accoustics suitable to accommodate a symphony orchestra or ballet, and

WHEREAS once destroyed, we believe there is no chance that a comparable facility would ever be rebuilt in the heart of Princeton,

THEREFORE we, the undersigned do petition the Borough of Princeton NOT to plan the destruction of the Playhouse before we have had a reasonable time to prove its potential as a center for the performing arts.

but the man caught up to him in the bank's parking lot.

His pursuer, described by Mr. Robbins as 22, six feet tall, wearing a dark bandana, grabbed the bank deposit bag and fled. The bag was later found in a rear yard on Lanning Avenue near the Brunswick Circle still containing the deposit slips but no money.

MOPED, BIKES STOLEN

By Trenton Youths. A 16-year old Trenton youth was arrested Saturday evening by Lawrence Township police at the Brunswick Circle riding a yellow moped he had allegedly stolen from in front of the Somerset Farms store on Nassau Street. The $499 moped is owned by a Gallup Road resident.

Borough police said the youth had stolen a bicycle earlier that evening from Chestnut Street and left it at the Somerset store when he drove off on the moped. Two other Trenton companions, 15 and 16, were apprehended on Nassau Street shortly after 9 by Det. Ronald Holliday.

They had allegedly stolen two ten-speed bicycles. One was a girl's model belonging to a Princeton Avenue resident; the other was a boy's bike. All three youths were later released to their parents, pending further action by juvenile authorities.

Skillman Man Arrested. A Skillman resident, Roy Gwin, 19, of Opossum Road, was arrested early Sunday morning by Township police, who charged him with possession of tools with intent to steal parts from the Harold Williams Body Shop on Route 206.

Gwin was arrested across the highway from the shop by Sgt. Michael Kopliner and Ptl. James Vandermark. He was attempting to leave the area when stopped, police said. Gwin was also charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. He was later released pending his appearance in Township court.

ONE THEFT SUCCEEDS

Another One Foiled. An employee at the A&P in the Princeton Shopping Center had her wallet stolen last week, but chance prevented her loss from being greater than it was.

The victim was unaware that her wallet containing $40 had been taken from her pocketbook which she had placed under a checkout counter until a call came from Sears in Quaker Bridge Mall checking on the use of her credit card. Township police said that a Sears security person knew the victim.

While the store was running a check on her card, the suspect, who was attempting to purchase a $449.95 color television set with it, ran off. He was described as a black male, 40 to 45, 5-9, 155 pounds and partially bald. He was wearing burgandy trousers and a maroon shirt with white polka dots.

An Erdman Avenue resident was sitting at a Grover Avenue Park bench last week when two youths stole her purse from atop a table.

One rifled through it, spilling contents on the ground before both fled through a hole in a hedgerow at the rear of 152 Grover. The victim's purse contained $207 but $107 was recovered, police said, at the scene.

One suspect was described as black, 15 to 17, six feet tall, heavy, wearing a white T-shirt; the second as white, 15 to 17, and smaller.

A Princeton resident reported the theft of her purse last week from the ground where she had left it in the Community Park pool area. It contained $5 and jewelry with a combined value of $150.

The purse and a bracelet were found later that evening on Birch Avenue. Their value is $85. Still missing, police said, are a watch and three pair of earrings.

In still another purse theft, the home of a Moore Street resident was entered last week between 10:30 and 12:30 a.m. through an unlocked front door by an intruder who walked off with a purse containing $20.

An Arlington, Va. resident lost $50 early Friday morning when his black leather wallet was stolen while he was changing clothes at the train station on lower University Place. He also lost his train tickets from Princeton to Washington, D.C.

A young woman called police Saturday to report that while she was working on the second floor of the Elm Club, 58 Prospect Avenue, between 2 and 7 p.m., someone stole her pocketbook from the first floor

100 Gallons of Gas Stolen. One hundred gallons of gasoline valued at $90 was siphoned last week from a rental truck parked at Econo-Car Rental, 820 State Road, and a Palmer Square resident listed the theft of the battery from her car while it was parked last week in the Playhouse West lot. Several years old, it was valued at $10.

A $50 gold pocketwatch was stolen from a study cubicle in Firestone Library between 9:50 a.m. and 2:10 p.m. on Thursday, according to the victim, a Stanworth resident.

A large wooden sign, "K. M. Light Licensed Real Estate" in front of the Light Agency at 245 Nassau Street was stolen last week during the night. The white sign with black letters was valued at $50.

Someone in the mood for a pickup game of volleyball Saturday went to Westminster Choir College to pick up a net. Police said that a light blue pickup truck entered a courtyard on the campus, loaded up a volley ball net and stands and drove off.

BUILDING SET AFIRE

When Winds Topple Tree, Wires. The roof of a home at 11 Birch Avenue was damaged, and the building next door at 9 Birch was set afire last week, when winds blew down a large tree opposite the house. No one was injured.

Mrs. Hester Phox, who with her husband rents the house from the Princeton Packet, told police she heard a loud noise at 10 minutes after 10 last Wednesday morning during a rainstorm. In checking, she discovered a large tree had fallen against the house.

The tree pulled down power lines and telephone wires. The sudden power surge caused the wires to short, setting fire to the floor joists in the building next door, according to Assistant Fire Chief William Shields.

Most of the fire was confined to the basement but the entire building suffered smoke and water damage. Ptl. Mario Musso, who responded to Mrs. Phox's call, said firemen were hampered by the heavy rain.

The building, used most recently by a religious group, was unoccupied. Previously, it had been the site of Starr's Inn Bar. Police said it had been sold recently and identified the owner as Florence Kahn, 255 Russell Road.

A general alarm was sounded at 10:40, sending 30 firemen from all three Princeton volunteer fire companies to the scene, where they remained until 12:35. Public Service and Bell Telephone officials were notified to repair the broken wires and the Township Road department was called in to remove the fallen tree.

Trees Down in Borough. Borough police report the same winds brought trees and wires down in several locations.

Trees or limbs were down at Elm Road near Stockton, on Green Street, and on Hamilton near Chestnut. A large tree down at Mercer Street and Alexander pulled down Public

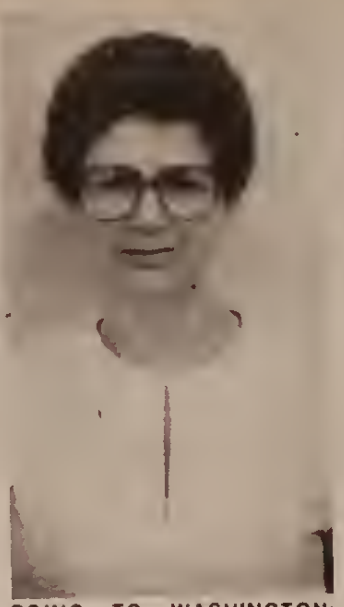
Adelle Mitchell, Watersheds Association Head, Appointed to Federal Water Resources Council

Adelle Mitchelt, executive director of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association since 1975, will leave on August 1 to become a staff member of the federal Water Resources Council.

Mrs. Mitchell has been appointed liaison between the inter-state river basin commissions throughout the country and the Water Resources Council, which is an advisory body to the President and Congress on water policy and issues.



GOING TO WASHINGTON: Adelle Mitchell will leave her post at the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association to become liaison to the federal Water Resources Council for river basin commissions across the country.

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, which she has directed since October, 1975, is a regional environmental organization concerned with water issues. ft is a non-profit association primarily supported by membership contributions. Its goal is to make sure that the 285-square-mile Stony Brook-Millstone area has a good and adequate supply of water.

It is concerned, therefore, with such problems as the free flow of streams, the quality of surface water, the protection of underground water, and the interconnection between the latter two. It is also concerned with the effect of land use and waste disposal on surface and ground water and the role of geology in determining how land should be used if water resources are to be protected.

Trained Professionat. The Watersheds Association serves as an adviser, consultant and coordinator of information on water problems to various governmental agencies and to individuals and citizen groups within its region. Because the issues it deals with are complex and technical, the Association retains a trained professional who understands the relationship between scientific facts and public decisions and who can speak effectively for it in the decision making arena.

During her four years with the Association, Mrs. Mitchell worked for a solution to the sewer problems of the area. She was instrumental in obtaining a grant for a model ordinance for Septic Tank Management Districts. She worked with Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset Counties on water management plans; and she advised the state on major water policy issues.

As a result of her efforts, the Watersheds Association received the New Jersey Conservation of the Year Award in 1978. Mrs. Mitchell was elected president of the mid-Atlantic Council of Watersheds Associations, also in 1978, and was recently appointed by Governor Byrne to the state Clean Water Council. She was also named to the advisory group of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Region If.

fn commenting on her resignation, David H. McAlpin, Jr., chairman of the Watersheds Association board of trustees, said: "Adelle Mitchell has performed a magnificent service for the people of our region in her brief tenure as executive director of the Stony Brook Millstone Watersheds Association. She has effectively asked the hard questions before local, state and federal agencies and committees and prodded them to deat seriously with the complexities of water resource issues. Her departure is a great loss to us all, and the Trustees, in particular, wilt miss her exceptional leadership."

A garage at 44 Mercer and a fence at 48 Mercer, owned by Princeton Seminary, were also damaged, police said.

THE QUICK, BROWN FOX

Typewriters Stolen. Typists at Gallup & Robinson in Research Park off Ewing Street were faced with idle fingers last week after eight electric typewriters valued at $900 each were stolen.

Police said a window had been broken between 10 last Wednesday evening and 7:30 Thursday morning to enter the building.

"We've had a rash of typewriters stolen," remarked Lt. Anthony Pinelli. He reported another such theft last week from nearby Opinion Research Corporation where seven to eight electric typewriters were taken. Police are waiting for an exact inventory from ORC officials. Again, a window was broken out to enter the building.

The same night as the Gallup & Robinson theft a $320 electric typewriter was stolen from a doctor's office on N. Harrison Street. A second typewriter was left behind.

Also taken from the office was $1,700 in checks and $850 in cash. Entry was gained by forcing a rear door.

Sitverware Stolen. Jewelry, silverware and miscellaneous items with a combined value of approximately $3,000 were stolen last week from a Hilltop Drive home. Police said the silverware was worth $1,898.

After removing a screen from an open kitchen window sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. to gain entry, the thief ransacked the house. Sgt. Robert Heacock investigated.

There was an attempted entry at the Feedbag Restaurant in the Princeton Shopping Center.

According to potice, a window over the main door had been putled open to try to get inside, breaking the window in the process. No entry was gained, however.

An unoccupied house on Walnut Lane was entered last week between 5 and 6 in the morning. Police were notified by a neighbor who heard the sound of breaking glass, went to check and found the home had been entered. Police are in the process of ascertaining if anything was taken.

Lt. Pinetli commented that police, while investigating several break-ins in the Township, have learned that witnesses or neighbors have noticed something suspicious o: heard the sound of broken glass but failed to notify police.

He urged all residents to call the police immediately if they see or hear anyting suspicious.

SUFFER STRESS?

Biofeedback Training Available. If you suffer from the kind of physical disorder that is aggravated by stress, you can receive biofeedback training in the Stress Management Clinic of the Medical Center at Princeton starting September 27, it was announced this week by Lester G. Fehmi, Ph.D., Director of the Behavioral Medicine Learning Clinic.

Sessions will be limited in size. Participants will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis after medical screening.

"Some of the stress-related disorders," Dr. Fehmi points out, "could include vascular and tension headaches, hypertension, Raynaud's disease, chronic muscular and vascular pain, hyperactivity, seizure activity, general tension and anxiety, irritability, ulcers, irritable colon or colitis, insomnia, respiratory distress and arthritis."

Dr. Fehmi explained that

Deadline Proposed For Sewer Tax Claims

If a proposed amendment to the Township code is enacted, a limit will be placed on the time that a homeowner has to file a claim on the correctness of his or her sewer tax bill.

The sewer tax is based on a homeowner's water consumption. Figures supplied by Elizabethtown Water Company are used, and the amount is equal to the charge for water during the previous year, or four times the winter quarter, whichever is the lesser amount.

Township Committee has been presented with a number of disputed claims, some of them involving usage estimates or actual charges going back a number of years. Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini feels that there are likely to be more of these claims and thinks it is only right that the time allowed for making objections be the same as for the general tax bill.

Tax bills are prepared and sent out in early June. By state law, the tax payer has until August 15 to file any objections.

An ordinance setting August 15 as the deadline for making claims on the correctness of the sewer tax was introduced last Wednesday night. The public hearing is scheduled for Wednesday, August 1, and if passed, the ordinance would take effect immediately. That gives taxpayers two weeks to object to the 1979 sewer tax and file the supporting water bills.

Some of the problems in the disputed sewer tax assessments seem to arise when estimated figures are used in place of actual readings. When a homeowner is not at home, the Water Company meter reader leaves a card that the homeowner is supposed to fill in by taking his own meter reading.

The card must be sent within 24 hours if the reading is to be included on the bill as the basis for an actual rather than an estimated charge. It is in the taxpayer's best interests to take that reading, because the estimate could be larger, thus resulting in a larger sewer tax bill.

"biofeedback is the mirroring of biological functioos by specialized instruments which enable individuals to become aware of, and develop control over, physiological processes in the body."

"During the training, the participant is informed, by means of a sensory signal, usually a tone or a light, of the state of a particular aspect of the body's functioning. The function signaled could be the level of muscle tension, sweat gland activity, finger temperature, or the coherence and amplitude of brain wave activity."

Because the feedback signal mirrors any changes in the monitored biological process, you develop a sensitive personal awareness of any changes which occur. You also receive feedback on the effect of various mental strategies you exert on the function that is being monitored.

"With biofeedback practice," Dr. Fehmi states, "persons with chronically cold hands can learn to warm them voluntarily. People with tense muscles can learn to relax them voluntarily. Individuals who over-react to daily experiences can learn to cultivate states of mind in which they can find a release from mental stress."

"Through biofeedback training and home practice," he notes, "it is possible to learn to relax in spite of present problems, and return to problem solution in a refresbed state of mind."

CONCERT PLANNED

At Trinity Church. Over 300 choir boys, teenage singers and church musicians from all parts of the nation are attending the famed Royal School of Church Music Boy Choir Training Course now in progress at Princeton University.

One of the main concert events of the week will be a program by Eugene Roan and Mark Brombaugh, organists, and John Burkhalter, recorders, at Trinity Church on Tuesday at 8:30. Mr. Brombaugh, a faculty member at Westminster Choir College, will play works by Mendelssohn and Bach on the Casavant Tracker organ at Trinity, and Mr. Roan, also a Westminster faculty member, will play several works by English composers. Mr. Roan and Mr. Burkhalter will play compositions by Purcell for recorder and small continuo organ.

The concert is open to the public without charge.

MEASURE OPPOSED

Now in Legislature. Township Committee takes a dim view of a pair of bills now in the state legislature which would require financial disclosure by both elected and appointed officials, and push municipalities into setting up ethics commissions.

A resolution asking a veto from Governor Brendon Byrne, if the measures pass, will be discussed at this Wednesday's 8 p.m. Committee meeting in Township Hall.

Committee members point out that the bill, if enacted, would require disclosure of income sources in all amounts over $2,000 of even the most temporary volunteer appointee on the most minor municipal agency.

Basically, the Committee feels that if the legislature is going to make such stringent requirements, it should turn to itself first: no such disclosures are required of the lawmakers.

Committee will also introduce the anti-loitering ordinance that has been the subject of discussion in recent meetings. It is modeled after Lawrence Township's ordinance, with minor modifications.

SOUNDS ON A SUMMER NIGHT: The Monday Blues Band, shown here in a 1978 performance, will play its varied repertoire of jazz, big-band, blues and jazz-rock this Thursday at 7:30 in the new amphitheatre, Community Park North.

By Watersheds Associatinn. The newly formed Volunteers Association of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association is sponsoring a photo contest.

The setting for the contest, which is entitled "The Watershed -- Our Environment," is the entire Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds area, the 285 square mile region from Manville to Millstone, West Amwell to South Brunswick, wherever the Stony Brook and Millstone Rivers and their tributaries flow.

There will be four categories, recreation, flora, fauna, and man and his habitat. The 12 winning photos, three in each category, will be featured in the Association's 1980 engagement calendar which will be available for purchase in October. The photos should represent the effect of water on life within the region.

The maximum number of entries, four per person, may be divided among any of the four categories. Only 8 x 10 black and white mounted glossies will be accepted. The reverse side of each print should be labelled with name, address, phone number and the location and category of the entry.

The deadline for entries is Friday, September 7. Winners will be announced September 14. Entires may be mailed to the Watersheds Association, RD 1, Box 263A, Pennington, and marked "photo contest." Prints will not be returned unless accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope.

For further information call 737-3177 or the Watersheds Office at 737-3735.

$5.8 MILLION RAISED

By Annual Giving. Princeton University's Annual Giving program broke records for the fourth year in a row with contributions totaling $5,839,989 in the 1978-79 campaign, which ended June 30. This figure exceeds by $447,000 last year's total, the previous record for the fund-raising effort conducted among alumni, parents, and friends of the university.

The 25th Reunion Class of 1954 led in the contributions, with $790,320. The classes of 1909, 1924, 1934, 1939, 1944 and 1974 set major reunion records; 1929, 1932, 1949, 1959 and 1964 all had totals in excess of $100,000. Memorial contributions and corporate matching gifts also reached new peaks in the 1978-79 campaign.

CUT-OFF DATE NEARS

For Solar Grants. Representative Millicent Fenwick (R., 5th District, N.J.) has reminded New Jerseyans that time is running out for homeowners who wish to take advantage of the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Solar Hot Water Grant Program.

The program, administered by the New Jersey Department of Energy's Office of Alternate Technology, provides $400 grants to homeowners and builder-developers who want to install solar domestic water heating systems in single family residential units. It will end on September 30.

Mrs. Fenwick noted that although the equipment needed to harness solar energy isn't free, it can be made to be cost effective and bring about dollar savings in a relatively short period. For example, a solar domestic water heating system attached to a home with electric heat will pay for itself in eight years or less.

A homeowner can subsidize almost 50 percent of the cost of installing a solar hot water system — which currently ranges in price from $2,000 to $3,000 — by taking advantage of the $400 grant, the New Jersey 5 percent sales tax credit and the federal tax credit, which is based on 30 percent of the first $2,000 and 20 percent of the next $8,000. New Jersey also has a property tax exemption. A solar system will not be assessed for any property taxation, provided a simple form is completed and filed with the local tax assessor.

The New Jersey Department of Energy will provide systems approved for the grant program, and Installation Guidelines booklet, and a list of manufacturers, distributors, and contractors. For an application package and further information on the HUD Solar Domestic Hot Water Grant Program, tax incentives, and alternate energies, call the New Jersey Department of Energy's toll free energy information line (800-492-4242) or write to Sharon Spector, Office of Alternate Technology, N.J. Our stock upholstery. It's the best buy for the money.

ALL STOCK UPHOLSTERY ON SPECIAL SALE THROUGH AUGUST 19.

There's a simple way to make upholstery Use inexpensive matenals, cut corners, and run it off a giant assembly line And if you start with a decent design, it will probably look O K For a while. But it won't hold up And it probably won't be very comfortable

But there is another way

It's called semi-custom made And it doesn't use a mass production assembly line But it does use various line techniques where they save money. And it also uses individual specialists who each work on a given task Perfectly. But fast And very efficiently. And this is how we make our exclusive stock upholstery.

Then, to further cut costs, we don't give you a huge choice of sizes Or fabrics Or options. All of which results in great savings.

Now that we've told you what you don't get, let us tell you what you do. Which is why we believe this is the best upholstery buy for the money anywhere

THE FRAME.

Solid oak or maple (not cheaper softwood) is used for strength and to prevent warping All joints are double doweled The frame is screwed, glued and corner blocked to prevent cracking

THE SPRINGS.

We use only 8 gauge, tempered steel sinuous springs And each spring is attached front and back by special helical clips which actually keep the springs "springier" for a longer time What's more these same springs are also used on the back (unlike most upholstery at even far higher prices) It takes time, but in time it proves its worth

THE PADDING.

It's extraordinary. We not only use extra padding on the interior, but we also pad the exterior surfaces This means that the wood frame is completely protected The results? More comfort And more durability Because upholstery fabric stretched directly over hard wood edges wears out faster

THE CUSHIONS.

Both seat and back cushions are made of a core of polyurethane foam wrapped in Dacron polyester When you sit, your weight is on the seat cushions So these have a higher proportion of foam The backs, which should be softer for more comfort, have more polyester And all the cushions are cased in non-woven fabric inner bags to prevent the outer fabric from wrinkling or lumping

THE SEWING.

Wherever possible (and this means 80% of the time), double needle stitching is used It can take up to three times as long as single needle stitching, but it gives us very straight, very even seams And the superior tailoring not only looks better, it wears far longer

THE STYLES.

Because upholstery is a serious investment, we don't believe in fancy or faddish designs that look fine one year and dated the next So we offer a limited number of classic modern pieces all with clean, uncluttered lines You'll find chairs, loveseats, and sofas, plus ottomans, sleepers, and even a modular unit group And, as we mentioned, options are available but kept at a minimum to cut down on costs

THE FABRICS.

Not a huge choice But a terrific one And more than half of them, including our best-selling Haitian cotton, corduroy and velvet, are available at the lowest prices And all fabrics are Scotchguarded ® for extra protection at no extra cost

Workbench stock upholstery. It's ours and we believe it's the best buy for your money anywhere

WE CALL IT OUR STOCK UPHOLSTERY BECAUSE MOST STYLES ARE IN STOCK.

Realistic Plans for Square
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The success of the Malls as entertainment as well as Shopping Centers should point the way towards realistic planning of an expanded Palmer Square. Princeton is one of the few towns left that has the potential for developing a town plaza, village green, etc.

Princeton University has always recognized the need for a cultural base in the town. McCarter is the most outstanding example, Jadwin, Summer Intime, Alexander Hall, The Art Museum, Summer Cinema are all examples of the University reaching into town to enrich our cultural lives.

Bill Lockwood's labors of love in providing everything from Summer Cinema to Jazz from Preservation Hall has given warmth and joy to all of us who wish to participate. Bud Vivian's tireless efforts in providing town-gown links are too rarely appreciated.

Now we have reached the point in which the University can enhance it's tradition of reaching out to all of us in the town to include us in it's artistic productions with the new life and vitality in the center of town. I'd like to offer the following suggestion to the University as it completes it's plans for Palmer Sq. North.

An outdoor area and twin theatres have been mentioned several times as an element in their plan. May I suggest that one of these be a traditional theatre but the other one remain a "free form" theatre with movable seats and the possibility of many uses such as theatre in the square, poetry readings, mime, dance, music, art exhibits, garden clubs, historical society, teen age and adult craft and art demonstrations - - a show case for our home town talents.(e.g., Princeton based experimental films and plays.) Such a decision would not be irrevocable: if necessary the University would convert it into a second traditional cinema theatre.

I think it's worth a try.

ANNE REEVES
President,
The Arts Council of Princeton

Study Commission Praised.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The enclosed letter has been sent to Margaret Broadwater and William Selden, co-chairpersons of the Princeton Consolidation Study Commission.

In 1952 we were deeply involved in the League of the public campaign. We have followed your deliberations with great interest and great admiration. We wish to commend you for your thoroughness, your faithful attendance at countless meetings, your supervision of hard-working sub-committees, and you invitation to citizens to express their views.

You listened courteously to the suggestions and arguments of citizens of all persuasions and gave them thoughtful consideration. Of course we are happy that you ended by recommending consolidation, but even if you had not, we would have considered you an exemplary commission, truly acting in the public interest.

The Playhouse Question
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Central Business District must be the focal point for the entire community, and not just for adjacent neighbors and owners.

Wall Street after dark will not do, and cannot be rescued by housing for the elderly. A different and stronger draw is essential.

The Playhouse, as a performing and visual arts supplement to McCarter Theatre, has the inherent advantages of parking, restaurants, show windows, and the proximity and charisma of Nassau Hall. These advantages are not available, nor will they ever be built, anywhere else.

Palmer Square and other merchants can neither expand nor survive without more parking. Parking garages are essential but must be tax-exempt and therefore can be built only by the Borough. The extent of expansion is thus a Borough decision, one more positive and risky than planning and zoning. This is the concern of all taxpayers.

The Playhouse should be given a maximum chance to amplify surrounding property usefulness by bringing in crowds who otherwise would never enter the CBD. This is the commercial support side for the potential Playhouse-Palmer Square Center for performing and visual arts.

This means that the Playhouse-Palmer Square Center must not be handicapped either by taxes or fixed charges on capital cost. (Note that the Playhouse was originally a gift by a public-spirited individual interested in the community as well as in the University.) It must be a community facility either dedicated to the Borough or leased at a dollar-a-year to a tax-exempt organization.

The University and Palmer Square must not be penalized in the event of failure. The Borough must first decide what expansion of the CBD it is willing to allow and support such expansion with Borough garages. In the event the Playhouse project fails, the site should revert to PSI and a proportionately larger expansion be allowed. In this way, they cannot lose. Either they have a successful major draw, or they have a still greater commercial expansion. Since planning and construction must be done by stages, in either contingency they do not even lose time.

The Borough, in turn, cannot lose. Either it has a live center which will support a higher tax income or, later, it has a greater quantity of ratables at a lower tax rate.

SAVINGS? CHECKING? TRUSTS? INVESTMENTS?

Banking can be downright confusing. You have so many financial matters to keep track of — not to mention all the new banking services around. Who can you turn to? One person who knows you by name and understands your financial concerns: your own personal banker.

Your personal banker will always be there to help. He or she will fill you in on all the current savings rates . . . assist you in getting information about trusts, investments and wills . . . and help smooth out any financial problems you may encounter. You'll also learn about services of special interest to senior citizens, such as direct deposit of social security checks to protect against theft, loss or mail delays.

How do you get a personal banker? Simply by qualifying for YES PLUS® banking — a unique package of services available only at United Jersey Banks. Besides your own personal banker, you'll also enjoy a line of credit to save you the embarrassment of bounced checks and to provide you with emergency cash if you ever need it; free phone transfers between checking and savings; instant check cashing privileges throughout the state and more, much more.

YES PLUS banking with your own personal banker is so helpful, you'll wonder how you ever did without it. For the reassuring details, visit any office of United Jersey Banks the first chance you get.

Wouldn't you like one person to turn to for all the answers?

HORIZON GROWING

3 Aquisitions Made. The Boards of Directors of the Marine National Bank of Wildwood, New Jersey and Horizoo Bancorp of Morristown, New Jersey have agreed in principle that Marine National Bank will become a member of Horizon Bancorp.

Under the terms of the proposal, Horizon will issue 4.5 of its common shares for each of the 157,388 outstanding common shares of Marine National. The market value of the transaction is approximately $10,000.000. The proposal will require approval by Marine National shareholders as well as by regulatory agencies.

Marine National is a commercial bank operating in five locations in Cape May County. At year-end 1978, it reported assets of $100,000,000. Income before security transactions for the same year was $1 million. Under the terms of the proposal Marine National would continue to operate as a separate entity, under its present name, with its present directors, officers and employees. Three directors of Marine National will join the Horizon Bancorp board and two directors of Horizon will join the Marine National Board.

Horizon Bancorp's present banking subsidiaries are American National Bank & Trust of New Jersey and Princeton Bank. A non-banking subsidiary, Horizon Crediteorp, specializing in yacht financing and secondary mortgages, has offices in New Jersey, Florida and Texas. At year-end 1978 Horizon had total assets of $833 million.

Within the last several weeks Horizon Bancorp has announced three acquisition developments. On June 29 Horizon reported that the acquisition of the Bergen Bank of Commerce, Paramus was expected to be effective. This past Monday. It also disclosed, simultaneously, that it had presented an acquisition proposal to the Franklin Bank of Paterson. Both the Franklin Bank and Horizon boards of directors have voted to accept Horizon's proposal. The combination with Marine National signals Horizon's desire to extend its organization in to the South Jersey market.

Earnings Rise. Income before securities transactions for the second quarter of 1979 was $2,845,000 or $1.03 per common share compared tn $1,984,000 or 75 cents per common share for 1978, an increase of 37 percent per share. Assuming full dilution, income before securities transactions was 92 cents per common share compared to 64 cents per common share in 1978, an increase of 44 percent per share.

Results for the six months showed income before securities transactions of $5,060,000 or $1.83 per common share compared to $3,702,000 or $1.39 per common share for 1978, an increase of 32 percent per share. Assuming full dilution, income before securities transactions was $1.63 per common share compared to $1.20 in 1978, an increase of 36 percent per share.

EARNINGS UP

At United Jersey Banks. United Jersey Banks has reported increases in income before securities transactions for both the 1979 second quarter and the six months ended June 30, 1979 of 22 percent when compared with the corresponding periods a year ago.

Income before securities transactions for the second quarter ended June 30, 1979 was $3,430,000 or 63 cents per share, compared with $2,800,000 or 52 cents per share earned in the same quarter last year. Net income, after securities transactions, was $3,458,000 or 64 cents per share reported in the same quarter a year ago.

For the first six months of this year, income before securities transactions was $6,495,000 or $1.20 per share, compared with $5,323,000 or 99 cents per share for the first six months of 1978. Net income, after securities transactions, was $6,496,000 or $1.20 per share in the 1979 first half compared with $5,308,000 or 99 cents per share earned last year.

Edward A. Jesser, chairman, said that the second quarter earnings increase was primarily attributable to stronger loan demand and higher interest rates as well as an increase in service charge income from deposit accounts. These improvements were partially offset by increases in the interest cost nf deposits and borrowed funds. We continue to carefully manage our operating expenses, which while on the rise, increased less than the rate of inflation.

GAINS HEPORTED

By Princetnn Savings. Growth in all areas of operation for the first six months of 1979 was reported by William H. Boozer, president of Princeton Savings and Loan Association.

The June 30, 1979 Statement of Condition showed total assets reaching $132,966,054, a gain of more than $3 million since December.

Depositors' savings increased $2,955,076 since the December 31 statement, bringing total savings to a new high of $117,107,175. Mr. Boozer noted that the continuing growth "can be directly attributed to the fact that Princeton Savings is offering the top rates, including the new four-year savings certificate and the 5½ percent regular savings account. Princeton's other high-yielding savings certificates with low minimum requirements are also finding wide appeal among serious savers during these uncertain economic times," he said.

In the first six months of 1979, Princeton Savings continued its policy of reinvesting their depositors' savings back into the community; its real estate portfolio grew to $115,451,292, an increase of $3,490,886 in 1979.

"Our new installment loan program is off and running strongly," observed Mr. Boozer. "The program's strength for the first half of 1979 already exceeds our expectations for the entire year."

GROUND BROKEN

For Delaval Headquarters. Groundbreaking ceremonies were held in Lawrence Township for the world headquarters of Transamerica Corporation. company has been a major Mercer County industry since 1901.

In 1963, the company became part of the San Francisco based Transamerica Corporation. Transamerica Delaval has 15 operating divisions worldwide which manufacture turbines, pumps, condensers, compressors, instruments and controls and other technological machinery. Its largest facility, located in Trenton, employs more than 1200.

The new 22,000 square foot building on a 10-acre landscaped site on Princeton Pike just north of I-95 will replace the leased quarters on Princeton-Hightstown Road that has served the company since 1971. The new site is adjacent to the Lenox Corporation headquarters which is to the south.

According to Donald T. Bixby, president, "The new headquarters will be a more convenient and appropriate facility for a corporation whose sales exceed $300,000,000."

The new building will house executive offices, the legal department, industrial relations, finance, data processing and corporate marketing. Although some 60 people will be assigned there, Mr. Bixby expects that only 40-50 will be present at any one time. "With facilities and customers throughout the world, our management and marketing people are travelling a great deal," he said.

Mahony and Zvosec, Princeton residents, have designed a structure which fits into the topography of its location and incorporates many of the most current energy saving ideas. There is a hill on the property and the long, single story structure will be tucked into the slope as part of the landscape. The facade will be natural slate panels.

Parking will be in the rear, and the cars will be screened by earth berms. The building will be 220 by 100 feet, with the main entrance facing Princeton Pike. From the front, a circular drive will lead to the rear parking area where a separate entrance for staff will be located.

Energy usage will be minimized by the division of the building into six independently operating zones with a system of heat pumps to circulate the cooled or heated air as necessary. Earth berms against the sides of the building will help it to blend into the landscape and act as a source of insulation. The building will be rimmed with glass above this earth cover, sheltered on all sides by a five foot roof overhead — another energy saver — which will shelter against summer sun and winter wind.

Plans are for the relocation to take place next summer.

ENGLAND BOUND: Inspired by visions of singing in some of England's most famous cathedrals next summer, these choristers from Trinity's Choir of Men, Boys & Girls wash cars to raise money for the tour. One Saturday a month they hold a car wash and hoagie and soda sale in the Trinity Church circle, 33 Mercer Street. The next one is this Saturday from 10-2 (raindate August 4). Shown here are Daniel Froehlich (standing) and Jamison Suter. A flea market of men's, women's and children's clothing will be held at the same time.

In 1975 he joined the Commercial Banking division and was elected a commercial banking officer. He was promoted to assistant vice president in 1977. Mr. Hines, who lives with his family in Shaler Township, Pa., is a member of the board of directors of the student consultant project for the University of Pittsburgh Graduate School of Business and is a member of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

CBD Expansion

for the present, one on Spring Street South and one on Chambers Street South with surface space dedicated – just in case; 80 new hotel rooms for the Nassau Inn; PCH downtown, with the proviso that if the project had difficulties within a certain time, market housing would be built; commercial space in Borough-owned garages; commercial space for PSI; and the concept of fringe parking.

Although everyone seemed to want some kind of public space – indoors or out – for the artsm the question of the Playhouse was left unanswered. Mr. Feldman repeated last week's reasons why it wouldn't be financially possible to convert the 42-year-old building.

James Thornton passed around a rebuttal declaring that William Websetr, head of RCA's Sarnoff Laboratory, and Harry Olson retired head of RCA's acoustics department said it would be absurd to tear the building down for acoustical reasons.

The $7,500 plan incorporating the Playhouse, prepared by venturi and Rauch for the Playhouse group, showed in "P-1" a commercial front for the Playhouse incorporating arts related commerce into the lobby, and with an entrance off a square to the east of the theatre building.

The addition to the Nassau Inn, in this plan, would be where the Greenhouse restaurant now is. A road is shown going through to Paul Robeson Place. Hulfish Street remains as it is now, and a four-story commercial building is on the new road, between Robeson and Hulfish. PCH would be west of the Playhouse.

In "P-2," Venturi and Rauch show a larger square on the Playhouse parking lot with narrower commercial buildings. Both plans could be modified if the Playhouse were to fail.

Mr. Sander presented plans he had worked out with Mrs. penick, who was not present.

"What makes you come back?" Mr. Sander asked the audience, explaining that in his view that was the essential thing to ask about a city or an area.

His proposal had the 150 semi-underground parking spaces and, he said, 77 more parking spaces than was shown in the earlier Plan "X". he proposed parking on the two south lots, plus one level on the library lot and the 150 below level.

He sketched two Playhouse parking lot proposals; one, closely built and retaining the Playhouse, but with courtyards. Only low two-story buildings face Robeson, stepping back to higher stories toward Hulfish. Shops would be built facing Robeson.

His second plan, without the Playhouse showed a one-story community center in the northeast corner of the Playhouse lot across a courtyard from a Nassau Inn addition, and space for community activity.

Ralph Hulit Jr. who had listened all evening to talk of ballet and symphony in the Playhouse and mimes strolling the street, asked "Are we talking about a place for the performing arts, or a more local center for community activity?"

Herbert Hobler had proposed the Playhouse as a center for regional music, drawing people from around the state. Mr. Hulit's question was never really answered: the Steering Committee includes in its membership people who want one or the other, and many who would like both.

The Playhouse question was not resolved, partly because nobody had the expertise to judge between experts who saud one thing and experts who said another, and because PSI has not given any hint that it will change its plans regarding the Playhouse.,

Mayor Cawley said earlier Tuesday night that he didn't think the Playhouse could be used in the way its supporters would like, and he hoped the majority of the Steering Committee would be satisfied with a strong emphasis on culture and entertainment without the Playhouse. He said that pleas he and Mr. Hamill made to PSI for a plaza "focus" near a theatre, had met a favorable response.

Tuesday night, when architect Jerry Cope showed once again plans for PSI, he pointed to a location in the northeast where some kind of theatre might be built. These plans show a closed-off Hulfish canopied to serve as a place for strolling players, strolling shoppers or artists, and steering committee members commented favorably.

What the smaller group, to be named by mayor Cawley, finally puts together, will undoubtedly combine elements of all these plans.

ON NOT JUST DOING SOMETHING

by The Rev. Louise L. Kingston, Chaplain
Princeton Medical Center

There's a familiar phrase which each of us, at one time or another, has probably uttered in frustration at one who stood idly by when we obviously needed help. "Don't just stand there! Do something!"

And we certainly should do something when someone is struggling alone with wobbly ladder, or whenever there is some specific help which is needed and which we might have to offer.

But many of life's crises are beyond our control. We are so conditioned to doing something that we are at a loss when there's nothing to do...except to hope, to pray, and to wait. Times like this come to patients, families, and friends who wait through crises in the hospital.

Each of us knows someone in trouble. That person's trouble may, or may not, be as dramatic as a hospital crisis. When the kind of help we have to offer won't change the source of the person's trouble, we often don't know what to do. And when we don't know what to do, we sometimes decide that we have nothing to offer. So we find a reason to leave.

I'd like to suggest that just as there are times when we need to be urged into action, so too, there are other times when the phrase might better be turned around to read: "Don't just do something! Stand there!"

Getting busy is a coping mechanism we employ when we are frustrated in our wish to eliminate the source of someone's pain. Being busy, finding something to do, may help the helper over the rough spots. But if our concern is genuinely for another person, not for our own uneasiness in the face of that person's pain, then we must struggle not to run away from that pain, not to get busy when there is nothing to do.

Henri Nouwen, a Roman Catholic theologian and priest put it this way: "The friend who can be silent with us in a moment of despair or confusion, who can tolerate not-knowing, not-curing, not healing, and face with us the reality of our powerlessness, is the friend who cares.

Even when there's nothing we can "do" we can still have a great deal to offer someone in trouble: our caring and our presence. We can stand there. I firmly believe that this is one of the crucial ways each of us is called to serve as an instrument of the Lord's peace.

RELIGION
In Princeton

TO LEAVE CHAPEL

For Post at Tufts. Richard N. Chrisman, assistant dean of the Chapel at Princeton University, has been selected to be the first full-time chaplain at Tufts University in Medford, Mass.

Mr. Chrisman is a 36-year-old Congregationalist and graduate of the University of Chicago Divinity School. He was selected from among 60 applicants to fill the position which he will assume September 1. At Princeton, he served as a lecturer in American literature in the English department.

His new post at Tufts involves both religious leadership and counseling for the university community. He will assume administrative responsibility for programs at the university's Goddard Chapel, provide liturgical leadership and coordinate all Tufts chaplains, who represent several religions. He will also be involved in the university's programs with neighboring communities.

Mr. Chrisman's departure comes on the heels of the release of a faculty study on the role of the chaplain and of the chapel in the life of Princeton University. Dean Ernest Gordon, the third full-time chaplain in the history of the present chapel, has announced his plans for retiring at the end of the coming academic year.

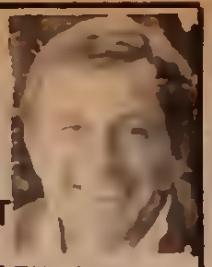
LET'S TALK ABOUT



NOW IS THE TIME TO FEED YOUR TREES...

with Sam deTuro

Woodwinds Associates

Just as the best looking people these days are the one's who take the best care of themselves nutritionally, so it is with the best looking trees!

As with every living thing, trees need a diet of carefully balanced nutrients in order to maintain their vigor and proper growth.

In light of the host of potential and actual dangers facing our trees, feeding - properly - is the most valuable, and yet least effectively used, "preventive medicine" available to the homeowner.

The past three years have been particularly hard on trees: two very severe winters, followed by a year in which the cool, exceptionally wet spring produced ideal conditions for a variety of fungus diseases. Additionally, we experienced an especially bad infestation of gypsy moth, cankerworm, and other leaf-chewing insects. All of these factors combine to weaken shade and flowering trees and, should we experience more of the same, hasten their inevitable decline. The same, of course, holds true for the beleaguered Elms, which have shown a dramatic increase of Dutch Elm disease this year.

Feeding this summer is therefore of the utmost importance: it will increase twig and branch growth now, and increase root development in the fall, thereby lessening the danger of winter injury to already weakened trees.

WOODWINDS specially formulated liquid fertilizer has one other benefit: since it is injected directly into the root area at high pressure, it serves to break up heavy soil compaction and bring both moisture and nutrients to the roots. It then provides up to two years of slowly released nutrients, assuring the tree optimum benefits.

With the proper preventive care, in the form of spraying, pruning and especially feeding, the homeowner can enjoy his trees with the knowledge that they are at their peak of health and vigor and will continue to provide not only comfort and beauty, but dollars and cents value to his home and ground. Remember, replacing them may take a lifetime!

WOODWINDS is always happy to answer any questions concerning your trees and shrubs....please call us at 924-3500.

Pioneering Long Career in A Man's World Rewarding Experience for Betty Jablonsky

"No 'women's lib' in those days — I pioneered maybe, but actually any woman could have done it."

That's what Betty Jablonsky, the Township's assistant building inspector, says of her long career in what was once regarded as a man's world — as builder, contractor, architectural designer, owner of her own construction firm.

Today, her format title at the Township is "building subcode official," which is something they thought up in Trenton. Her boss, Jack Myers, is the Township's "construction official."

PIONEER IN THE FIELD: Betty Jablonsky, former contractor, now a building inspector for Princeton Township.

A native of Hamilton Township and still a resident there, Betty was the daughter of engineer J.M. Jablonsky. She wanted to become an architect but, as she points out, "in those days, women just couldn't get into the architecture schools and certainly couldn't get into Princeton."

She enrolled in the Trenton School of Industrial Arts, specializing in architectural design. Many architects trained there, she recalls, including such well-known professionals as Louis Kaplan.

"In that early phase, when I was about 18, I asked myself, 'how will you cope!' and I felt I really needed a model. I was lucky; I found one."

Meeting Mary Roebling. At a country club lunch with friends, she was introduced to Mary Roebling, then president of Trenton Trust and she says today:

"The greatest thing that could have happened to me was to meet Mary Roebling at that time. I felt that because she had accomplished what she had, I could, too."

A renowned figure in New Jersey banking circles for many years, Mrs. Roebling has most recently been serving as chairman of the board of the National State Bank of Elizabeth.

With her Trenton School of Industrial Arts training — "and you came out of there very well-equipped" — Betty Jablonsky joined the firm of Micklewright and Mountford, leading Trenton architects of the time. She served her apprenticeship as architectural draftsman — it was before the day of the "draftsperson" — and then moved to other firms.

In New York, she worked with Donald Desky, a co-designer of Radio City, and did the designs for the Shawnee-on-the-Delaware recreation community of musician Fred Waring. Among her designs was the one for singer Peggy Wood's home.

The pre-fab field then became an attraction. She decided to study more about this aspect of building, and her pioneering work attracted Sears, Roebuck which hired her to do all the construction drawings and supervision for its factory-built homes. She was on that job six years.

Still with strong New Jersey ties, she joined J. Wendell Parr's Designed for Living, then one of the largest of New Jersey's custom home builders, and became a stockholder in the firm.

At Designed for Living, she supervised the entire design staff and the drafting, and had overall management responsibility for both pre-fab and custom homes. (One of her projects, incidentally, is the Christian Center building on North Harrison, in Princeton.)

Out on Her Own. That part of her career lasted 13 years and finally she decided it was time to go out on her own. She formed Designed-For-U, Inc., in partnership with accountant M. George Coleman.

"I did that for 11 years, but then the mortgage crunch...."

And she found herself in Princeton Township, on the staff of former engineer Joseph Hodak. She became assistant building inspector last November.

"All those years, I was always out in the field, in the mud, right there with the builders. A 'dozer comes on the job site at $100 a day, and you'd better be there to see it does the job."

"I'd have lunch with the builders — it was in the good old days when they'd sit around on piles of lumber with a six-pack eating lunch, or I'd join them in winter when they'd have a fire in a barrel to keep warm and maybe I'd take them a bottle and Christmas gifts. I always had good relations with my employees, and the people I've built for."

Years of experience on the other side of the construction fence have helped Betty Jablonsky in her present job as "building subcode official," inspecting construction to make sure, as the law says, that the "health, safety and welfare" of the building's occupants is assured. Other inspectors handle electricity and plumbing.

Betty says she went into

Such a Wonderful Place!

"I have built in almost every town and little hamlet in New Jersey," says Betty Jablonsky, "but I've never met people more generous and delightful than the residents of Princeton."

"You have to go into their homes, in my job, and they are so wonderful to work with! My colleagues here in the Township — why, they're just a joy."

"I love to just drive along the streets as I go about my inspections — it's such a beautiful place. I've lived in Hamilton all my life, but you know, I think I might like to live in Princeton. Nowhere do you see such beauty."

Playhouse to Reopen This Thursday Evening

Movie tickets for 40 cents?

Strictly a one-night-stand offer. But this Thursday is a big night, inaugurating the six-month trial re-opening of the Princeton Playhouse on Palmer Square.

Doors open at 7 p.m. (nobody has any idea what kind of crowd to expect). The show will start at 8:30.

It will be "The Awful Truth," with Cary Grant and Irene Dunne, the same 1937 comedy -- they called them "screwball" in those days -- that was shown the night the Playhouse opened, almost 43 years ago, on December 9, 1937.

Your 40 cents admission is the same as the 1937 admission. But the very next night -- this Friday -- admission will go back to something approaching, but a lot cheaper than, 1979 commercial movie theatres: $2.50.

After Thursday's single opening night screening, the Playhouse will operate under the following schedule: Sundays through Thursdays, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.; Fridays and Saturdays, 6, 8 and 10. The box office will open half an hour before show times.

On Friday night, the Playhouse attraction will be the newly released PG version of "Saturday Night Fever" starring John Travolta. It will play through Thursday, August 2.

"The China Syndrome" and Neil Simon's "California Suite" will follow as a double feature from August 3 through 9. "Days of Heaven" and "Heaven Can Wait" will be the double bill from August 10 through 16.

"The Awful Truth," which won the Academy Award for director, Leo McCarey, is about a separated couple who sabotage each other's love affairs while they wait for their divorce to become final. Ralph Bellamy stars with Grant and Dunne. The print is one of the few surviving 35 mm prints of "The Awful Truth," and it has been made available for the special evening by Columbia Pictures.

News Of The THEATRES

"MATCHMAKER"

At Summer Intime. Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker" (from which the musical, "Hello, Dolly!" was adapted) will open on Summer Intime's stage Thursday, August 2, playing through that Sunday and again from Thursday through Sunday, August 9-12, with a Sunday matinee August 12 at 2:30. All performances are at 8 p.m. in Murray Theatre. Reservations may be made at 452-8181.

The matchmaking widow of the 1880s will be played by Laura Halper, and William Kepper will portray the wealthy merchant for whom she is supposedly finding a wife. Actually, of course, she is eliminating all the candidates to set things up for herself.

The play has such 1880 niceties as people hiding under tables, falling out of cupboards whose doors are suddenly opened, masquerading in various costumes and behaving with general exuberance.

Dale Coye, who directed the Agatha Christie "Towards Zero" and has directed several productions during the academic year for Theatre Intime, is in charge of "The Matchmaker."

MORE JOHN WAYNE

Films from '49 and '62. "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," a 1962 film, and "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," dating from 1949, will conclude McCarter's retrospective series on the late John Wayne.

The films will be shown next Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 ("Valance") and 9:30 ("Ribbon") in Kresge Auditorium.

In "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," director John Ford has Wayne and James Stewart in a confrontation which Wayne prefers to lose, rather than have an enemy compromise his principles. Stewart plays a bungling big-city lawyer determined to rid a village of its Number One bad man, played by Lee Marvin.

"She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" has Wayne as an aging cavalry officer on his last mission before retirement. He has been trying to keep peace with the Indians and "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" is a pacifist film in which the Wayne character embodies Ford's belief in the importance of mature, farsighted leadership.

SUMMER CINEMA

Wayne, Nicholson .... and John Ford and Michaelangelo Antonioni. The next double-bill in McCarter's Summer Cinema at Kresge Auditorium will be John Ford's western "The Searchers," and Antonioni's "The Passenger." Both will be shown starting next Wednesday, August 1 and continuing through Sunday, August 5.

News of the Theatres

"The Searcher," one of the most extravagantly praised of contemporary films, stars John Wayne as a frontier outlaw engaged in a ten-year search for his niece, who has been stolen by Indians. Nuances of racism, imperialism, myth and even the birth of a society characterize the film.

"The Passenger" stars Jack Nicholson as a burned-out reporter who exchanges identity with a dead man meets an equally burned-out girl and starts out on a dangerous journey through Africa, Spain, Germany and England. Although the film is a suspense melodrama, it also touches the philosophies of Borges, Camus and the existentialists.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday evenings, "The Searchers" will be shown at 7:30 and "The Passenger" at 9:40. On Friday and Saturday evenings, respective showtimes will be 8 and 10:10.

Street Theatre Enjoying Successful Summer After Fighting Financial Problems Last Year

GO! Street Theatre actors rehearsing for "The Marvellous Magic Machine," a children's show which will play the area between August 1 and 11. Front row, left to right: Scott Hawley and Cyndi Savage; middle row, Tina Arminio and Audrey Rosenberg; back row, Christopher Gable and Joan Hawley. (Sherri Pignona was away on vacation.) Debbie Bellow is directing, and Alex Kappes is stage manager.

"It's quite a bit better than last year," smiled "Picnic" star Karen Schleyer, recalling Street Theatre's 1978 financial melodramas. "We have more people taking ads in our programs, a greater number of contributions — and a tight control of expenditures."

About to become a junior at Princeton High, Karen is typical of Street Theatre's membership: she's older than some, because you are welcome even if you're in seventh grade, but she's younger than others, because the "Picnic" cast includes a woman past her teens.

William Inge's "Picnic" will be given on Street Theatre's mobile stage this Thursday at Princeton Community Village, this Friday and this Saturday at Princeton High School, all at 8 p.m. It opened July 18.

Street Theatre was founded in 1971 by some high school students who were part of a youth organization known as Flight Two. The prime mover then and now was Debbie Bellow. Flight Two has flown, but Street Theatre remains, funded chiefly by the Princeton Youth Fund with Mercer County Cultural Heritage Commission also making a contribution. Most of the money, however, comes from advertisements in the programs. The three-month summer budget is $7,330.

Year 'round, some 200 young people work in Street Theatre. Lots of kids come onstage through the special plays for children because you can join these casts if you are not experienced, and learn how to handle blocking, voice projection and the other esoteric tools of the theatrical profession.

"The Marvellous Magic Machine" is the children's show now in preparation. It has skits and songs about things little children are familiar with, like being afraid of the dark, but in spite of its title, it is not a magic show.

Camps, Clubs, Malls. Street Theatre's cast will take it to day camps, 4-H clubs, shopping malls and — because the older you are, the more you love to be around kids — into nursing homes. Dates are August 1 through 11 and there will be a winter show too.

These children's shows are good money-makers for Street Theatre. An organization books the show and pays Street Theatre $75 or $100, perhaps lower if the group is known to have slender resources. Last year's children's shows paid the salary of the tech director.

One of the ways you learn about theatre in Street Theatre, is by signing up for a workshop. This week's acting workshop is under Bernadette Di Gaetano, theatre major at Rider College. It's the second of four workshops.

From July 30 through August 3, you can learn vocal projection on stage, with singing teacher Bruce Turner, and from August 13 through 17, the workshop will be in dance, especially jazz dance, with Sharon Thompson of the New Jersey School of Ballet. All are given in "A" basement, Juniper Row,

Street Theatre

Princeton Community Village.

Donations Asked. Street Theatre, when it had to move from Dorothea House, was given the "A" basement by PCV rent free. In return, Street Theatre gives free performances of its children's show at PCV.

All performances of any Street Theatre production are free, but audiences are asked for a donation. Because Street Theatre is a non-profit organization, workshops are theoretically free, too, but participants are asked for a $35 donation. And you don't have to take a workshop to try out for a play.

The workshops are only one week long, explains Princeton High history teacher Ralph Heyman, who is on the summer Street Theatre staff, so that if you go away on vacation, you can join a workshop either before you go, or after you come back.

Mr. Heyman, who already knows many of the Street Theatre troupe, points to the variety of interests and talents in the crew.

"You don't have to be a great actor," he observes. "Our productions aren't professional — kids work with what talents they have and build on them. If you try out for an acting part and don't make it, then you paint sets or collect props or learn about lights."

"Kids are made to feel they can accomplish things," he adds.

"I had no idea I liked theatre," Karen has said. "I took a couple of workshops, worked on props, and here I am."

Graduates. Some have gone on from Street Theatre. Among these are Tim Murphy, who has done TV commercials and had small film parts, and Liz Bolick, who is now a member of Actors Equity and has done understudy work for the national companies of Broadway shows.

They come to "A" basement, Juniper Row, from Monmouth Junction, Lawrence, West and East Windsor, the Hopewells, Pennington, Princeton.

Audiences, with blankets or folding chairs, come from the neighborhood near that night's performance stand, and often from much farther. Around 100 attend — the record of 300 was several summers ago for "Play It Again, Sam." Usually, people in their 20s constitute the bulk of the audience, although young children bring their parents on many summer evenings.

The next chance, after "Picnic," will be the three one-acters that will be given between August 15 and 25.

Auditions for actors and directors will be Tuesday and Wednesday, July 31 and August 1, at 7:30 p.m. in "A" basement.

Four male and four female roles must be filled. "Curtains" is about the death of theatre and who is to blame — critics who write scathing reviews, or actors who give poor performances? "Please Call Me Sol" is about two elderly people who have each married for the second time and the question is, "Is it possible to be deeply in love the second time around?" The final play, "Interview-Job" deals with a woman's revenge against a company that, she feels, discriminated against her. The question: "What's the real reason she was fired?"

Summer over, Street Theatre will begin door-to-door canvassing for contributions. It's easier that way, Karen says, because when householders ask "Street Theatre? What's that?" the travelling players can explain and answer questions — and probably collect a larger tax-free contribution.

By early spring, the high school students who are the core, will gather to choose next year's plays. And soon — it's next summer, and another season is beginning.

SUMMER SOUND: JAZZ

In New Amphitheatre. The new amphitheatre in Community Park North will be used for the first time this Thursday when Summer Sounds presents the Monday Blues Band, featuring Princeton resident Arnie Roth.

The band, made up of 20 musicians, performs a wide variety of styles including blues, swing, jazz, bossa nova and jazz-rock. Formed five years ago as a rehearsal band, Monday Blues now performs regularly throughout the state. Over 800 people went to a recent concert in Hamilton Township.

Summer Sounds' next offering, on Thursday, August 2, will be Leaps and Bounds, the jazz quintet. On August 9, the jazz-rock fusion band, Mainstream, will perform.

Community Park North can be reached by the Mountain Avenue jug-handle off State Road, or directly from Mountain Avenue. There is free parking in the lot, picnic and lavatory facilities. All concerts start at 7:30 p.m. and are free. Raindates are the following evening for all concerts.

MUSIC In Princeton

ROBERT SHAW HERE

To Conduct Berlioz Work. For eight years conductor Robert Shaw has been directing a summer workshop for some 200 professional singers, teachers, and choral directors — many of whom are Westminster graduates — on the Westminster Choir College campus. These professionals come together for an intense two weeks of study, rehearsal, and performance each summer.

The Berlioz "Requiem" will be performed on Friday at 8 in the Princeton University Chapel. The Westminster Workshop Choir will be accompanied by members of the Concerto Soloists of Philadelphia with Nancianne Parrella at the organ. Gene Tucker will be the tenor soloist.

Tickets for a special reserved section are available at $5 through the Westminster Summer Session office by calling 924-7416. For those in unreserved seats, a freewill offering will be taken.

The "Requiem" (Grande Messe des Morts Opus 5), written in 1837 is a big, dramatic work calling for a large chorus, four brass choirs and more than a dozen tympani. One writer described the piece as "a Mass for the end of the world, a terrible and sublime proclamation punctuated by blasts from the Last Trumpet."

Robert Shaw, one of this country's most influential musical figures, has founded three great amateur choruses, the Collegiate Chorale of New York City, the Cleveland Orchestra Chorus, and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra Chorus. His many tours with the Robert Shaw Chorale between 1945 and 1967 and his nearly 100 recordings have established him as a top-notch choral conductor. Since 1967 his career has expanded to included the admiration of critics as an interpreter of the orchestral repertoire.

WHEN I TAKE YOU OUT IN THE SURREY: Curley (Alan Chawning) sings to Laurey (Linda Nicolai) about his magical surrey with the fringe on top in this scene from the Princeton Community Players production of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Oklahoma!" The musical, under the direction of Roo Brown, will be seen at the Open Air Theatre of Washington Crossing State Park on August 2, 3, & 4 and 9, 10 & 11 (Rain Dates: August 5 and 12).

He is at present the musical director and conductor of the Atlanta Symphony and as such conducted a concert of Westminster Alumni and the Atlanta Symphony in Princeton for Westminster's 50th Anniversary celebration in 1976.

Soloist Gene Tucker, who is equally at home in opera, concert, and oratorio, and has received critical acclaim throughout the United States, has sung under Shaw in the "Messiah" (with the Minnesota Orchestra) and under Joseph Flummerfelt, the Director of Choral Activities at Westminster, at the Spoleto Festival.

Nancianne Parrella, a music teacher at Princeton High School for many years, appears regularly as organ soloist and assistant to Frederick Grimes at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in New York City. She has been the director of the Intermezzi concerts which have frequently featured the 40-voice Westminster Choir at both the Spoleto, Italy, and Spoleto Festival, U.S.A.

OKLAHOMA DUE

At Open Air Theatre. "Oklahoma," the Rodgers and Hammerstein classic, will open at the Open Air Theatre in Washington's Crossing Park on August 2. When it first opened on Broadway, it charmed audiences with its memorable music and the Agnes De Mille choreography.

In the leading roles are Linda Nicolai as Laurie, Alan Chewning as Curly, Jack Friedel as Will and Cornelia Powers as Ado Annie.

Additional roles will be filled by Robert Watson as Jud Fry, Lew Gantwerk as Ali Hakim, Mary Balogh as Aunt Eller, Nick Procaccino as Andrew Carnes, Bob Culleton as Ike Skidmore, Brad Caswell as Slim, Dale Ducko as Fred, James Lovell as Cord Elam and Regina Belza as Gertie Cummings.

In the dream ballet Jennifer Benton will dance the role of Laurie, Dale Ducko will be Curley and Eric Newton will be Jud.

Performance dates are August 2, 3, 4, 9, 10 and 11 (rain dates August 5 and 12). The curtain is at 8:30 and the box office opens at 4 on performance days.

YOUTH SOUGHT

For Master Classes. The New Jersey State Teen Arts Program is seeking young musicians to participate in a series of master classes this fall, conducted by members of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

The special classes will be held in conjunction with the Philharmonic's evening performance, September 12, at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel. The performance and masters' instruction are being sponsored by the "Bell System American Orchestras on Tour," a program of financial support aimed at extending the tours of seven major American orchestras to communities throughout the nation.

According to Jane Eilbacher, director of the Teen Arts Program, all qualified teen age musicians, be they public, private, or special education students who have participated in the 1979 State or County Teen Arts Festivals are eligible for the masters' instruction. Classes will be offered on the afternoon of September 12th at the Monmouth County Arts Center in Red Bank. Based on applicant response, specific master classes will be determined from the following instruments: flute, trumpet,

"Hi! G.I.!" is a romp through WW II's lighter side; the story of a brash young soldier and an Army nurse who meet, fall in love, and then he is shipped to the South Seas. It is a musical review suitable for the whole family.

The production is directed by Walter MacNicoll and includes Jane Wasser, Robert Byrne, Kevin Glenn, William Hanley, James Scott, Lynn Steward, Barbara Habeeb, Sidney Porcelain, William Trombley, Vivian Argilan, Dorinda Dercar and Jane Mangan. With Cheryl Parr at the piano, musical arrangements and interpolations are by Robert Byrnes and the lighting by Patti Bukowski.

Book, lyrics, and musical numbers are by Mr. Porcelain, who has had a script on NBC-TV, short stories listed in Martha Foley's "The Best American Short Stories," and a film short entry at the Spoleto, Italy, Film Festival.

There is free parking in lot 4 below the museum.

LYNN STEWARD sings and dances in "Hi! G.I.!" a new musical by Princeton resident Sidney Porcelain being performed this Sunday at 3 at the N.J. State Museum in Trenton.

READY FOR McCARTER

Plays Announced. Six plays – one still to be announced – have been chosen by Nagle Jackson, new artistic director of McCarter, for presentation in the coming season. Opening night: October 2.

"My first season at McCarter will include a play written in the 1660's, a play written in the 1970's, studies of England in the 60's, France in the '40s' and the United States in 1915," Mr. Jackson says. "Locales range from Knoxville, Tennessee to the valley of the Loire to a landing pad on the moon ... There are comedies here and tragedies, classics and new arrivals."

The List:

"The Visions of Simone Machard" by Bertolt Brecht, in collaboration with Lion Feuchtwangler. Mr. Jackson's premiere of this play with the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre was selected by the National Observer as one of the ten best productions of that year's national theatre season. The work jumps in time from the France of Joan of Arc to the France of World War II and back again, and in each of the two worlds a young girl has visions. This will be McCarter's opener, on October 2. It will play through October 21.

"All the Way Home," by Tad Mosel after James Agee's "A Death in the Family." Mr. Jackson describes this play as "at once heart-rending and warmly humorous in its candid depiction of the ultimate sadness in a young family's life." It will play from October 30 to November 18.

"Jumpers," by Tom Stoppard. In Kenneth Tynan's profile of Stoppard in The New Yorker, he referred to this play as Stoppard's masterpiece. An intellectual tour de force, it is simultaneously a bedroom farce, a murder mystery and a discussion of moral philosophy. It will be at McCarter from November 27 through December 16.

"The Miser," by Moliere. "It is," says Mr. Jackson, "simply a very, very funny play by the master of comedy himself. Every situation comedy steals something from this classic confrontation of father vs. children. "The Miser" will play after the holiday season, from January 22 through February 10.

Following the run of "The Miser," Mr. Jackson will present a play "to be announced." "The exciting script that magically appears two days before the season opens," is the way McCarter, tongue in cheek, defines the selection. Whatever it is, audiences may find out about it between March 4 and 23.

"Hay Fever," by Noel Coward. According to McCarter, Mr. Jackson's production of "Hay Fever" in San Francisco this year was the hit of the season. When Britain's National Theatre decided to do a Coward play, this is the one they chose. Next spring in Princeton: "Hay Fever," from April 1 through April 20.

CHALLENGERS FAIL

To Dislodge Sweet Jersey Corn. Although still on top and assured of at least a tie for first place in the Women's Softball League, Sweet Jersey Corn last week caught the devil from Andy's Angels. Corn won its fourth straight by staving off a last-inning, four-run rally by the inspired Angels to win 9-8.

Despite recent scares (three one-run wins), Corn is proving itself a champion by winning the close ones. Clare Baxter's triple in the first inning with the bases loaded helped Corn take a 7-2 lead after two innings. In the sixth, Dee Pearce and Baxter provided Corn with two more runs and a 9-4 lead.

In the bottom of the seventh the Angels came to bat for the last time. Amy Shillaber and Pam Berntsen hit safely and scored to narrow the lead to 9-8, but a fly ball ended the upset attempt.

The battle for second place saw another exciting game as Koffee Kup's eight-game winning streak was broken by Conte's Bar, 11-9. Last week, the Kup had ousted Conte's from second but this time two big innings were the difference as Conte's now is assured of at least a second-place tie.

Conte's scored six runs on six hits in the bottom of the fourth behind a double by Harriet Staub and a triple by Cathy Burrough. The Kup regained the lead in the top of the sixth when Shelley Craig and Spring Taylor smashed doubles.

In their half of the inning, the Kup could only score one run. The final two runs scored by Conte's -- driven in by Cindy Hines and Sarah Hommel -- avenged the earlier defeat.

The Pacers took sole possession of fourth place with their highest scoring game of the year as they trounced the fading Zephyrs, 17-1. Marie Wszolek belted a bases-loaded triple and the Pacers scored eight of their runs from walks.

In a wild game marred by 25 walks and 13 errors, Community Liquors outlasted Ivy Inn, 14-12, in overtime. Community's biggest blow was a grand slam by Sally McEwen during an eight-run outburst in the fifth inning.

In games played last week, Community Liquors edged Ivy Inn, 8-7, as Beth Thompson and Lorraine Duthie drove in the tying and winning runs. The Pacers topped the Zephyrs, 8-6, in a game that saw the lead change hands five times. In the end, it was 13 Zephyrs' errors that spelled defeat.

The Pacers also won over Community Liquors, 9-3, as Kathy Moran and Mary Anderson sparked the win. Koffee Kup held a tight, 12-10 lead over Conte's going into the bottom of the sixth but broke it open with a seven-run outburst. Vernell Carr, with a perfect day at bat, and Jayme Edwards led the Kup attack.

PITS too, felt the Kup's power hitting, falling 18-3, as Judi Grisham and Carr knocked in eleven runs. Conte's, behind a three-hit shutout by Cathy Burrough, blanked the Zephyrs, 5-0.

The Angels remained in a battle for fourth place with an 8-6 win over Ivy Inn as Debbie Breithaupt, with a double, triple and three RBIs, led the scoring. Breithaupt had half of the Angels' six hits.

FORCED AT SECOND: Lisa Yates of Koffee Kup catches the ball a step or two ahead of Nancy Laughlin of Conte's in action Sunday in the Princeton Women's Softball League. Conte's won the game, handing Koffee Kup its third loss of the season.

(Tom Graves photo)

The Angels, down 6-5 going into the top of the seventh, also threw a scare at Corn. Scoring twice on Pam Berntsen's two-run homer, the Angels had a 7-6 lead. Corn came back in its half of the inning as a Liz Hoffman double, an error, a Maureen Nosal single, another error and Ann Knudsen's sacrifice fly combined for a thrilling 8-7 win for Corn.

The standings:

POST 76 NEEDS HELP

To Reach Legion Playoffs. Only this much is certain: the battle for the fourth-place playoff berth in the Mercer County American Legion league race — the only slot not decided — will go down to the wire.

Princeton Post 76 is in the thick of the battle. A 12-1 romp over cellar-dwelling Hightstown Sunday saw to that. But a 10-1 loss to Hopewell Post 339 Saturday was costly. With two games left to play, Princeton can no longer clinch on its own. It must have help from someone else. Particularly, someone has to beat Bordentown Post 26.

Princeton presently has 27 points. Bordentown, with one more tie and one less loss than Princeton, has 28. The first three playoff berths have been captured by Hamilton Post 31, West Trenton Post 314 and Trenton Post 93.

Princeton sailed past punchless Hightstown, scoring in each of the first three innings to take a 7-0 lead. Second baseman John Flood had three of Princeton's 13 hits, including a double. He drove in two runs.

Brent Robinson, Mark Adams and winning pitcher Keith Phox (3-1) each rapped two hits, one by Phox a double. Doubles by Al Kandell and Jeff Lechowicz also sent three runs across the plate. The loss was Hightstown's eleventh straight.

Hopewell Loss. The previous day, Post 76 was unable to solve Hopewell pitcher Manny Canovas, who spun a four-hitter and struck out eight. Kandell, Phox, Flood and Keith Greener accounted for the only Princeton hits.

Hopewell got to Post 76 pitcher John Webber in the second, scoring five runs. Two came in on an error. Glenn Van Fleet singled home the third run and Bill Lawton's double sent two more home. Hopewell put it out of reach with four more in the eighth. Flood batted in Princeton's lone run in the sixth.

The previous day — it was a busy week for Princeton — Post 76 scored single runs in the first, second and seventh innings to top Lawrence Post 414, 3-1 at Rider College's diamond.

Greener singled home Bob Easton who had also singled for Princeton's first run. A double by Lechowicz and Robinson's single produced the second run while the third was scored by Dave Reed who doubled and came home later on a sacrifice fly.

Winning pitcher Jon Luse (4-5) allowed only three hits but shaky control kept him in potential trouble throughout the game which was called after seven innings because of darkness.

Luse walked six and left eight runners stranded in the contest, six in scoring positions. Lawrence was able to break through only in the fifth, however, when John Connell drew a leadoff walk, stole second and came all the way around on a perfectly-laid sacrifice bunt.

Grand Slam Costly. Earlier in the week, Kandell was the victim of a fourth-inning grand slam by right fielder Rich Kerlin as Broad Street Park Post 313 defeated Princeton, 6-1. Kandell allowed only five hits in suffering the loss.

Al Collins (5-2), who got the win for Broad Street Park, yielded six hits — half by the Kandell brothers. Al had two including a double, while younger brother John also doubled for Princeton's only extra base hits.

Princeton began its five-game week with a 5-1 victory over the Broad Street Park Browns. It scored all the runs it needed in the first when Al

Kandell's triple scored the game's first run and he came home on Greener's sacrifice fly.

Phox got the win, limiting the losers to six hits. Princeton had 11, including two each by Reed, Phox and Adams. Easton and John Kandell each stroked doubles.

FINALS FRIDAY

In Princeton Boys' Open. The finals of the annual Princeton Boys' Open Tennis Tournament will be held Friday morning starting at 10 at the Pagoda Courts on the Princeton University Campus.

Singles and doubles champions will be decided in the boys' 14 and under, 16 and under, and 18 and under divisions. A draw of almost 200 boys from the Middle Atlantic states is participating in the event which began on Monday.

PLAYOFFS UNDERWAY

In Summer Lacrosse. Playoffs began this week in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League, in which Green ended the regular season undefeated in five games.

Navy was second with a 3-2 record, while Red, Orange and Gold all finished 2-3. Blue finished in the cellar with one win and four losses.

In a game last week, Green, behind 3-0 at the half, came on to defeat Gold, 6-4. Johnny Morris's three goals led the Green comeback, while Morgan Mohrman, Ted Baruch and Sean Cavanaugh added single goals. Mohrman had two assists, Baruch one.

Matt Adriance, Hal Kokes, Peter Mittnacht and Mark Hanna scored for Gold.

In two games finished last week that had been rained out earlier Red stopped Blue, 14-8, and Navy scored four last-quarter goals to defeat Orange, 10-7.

Two former high school players paced Red. Rob Olsson, the Princeton Day School standout, fired in five goals and Bobby Campbell, one of the big guns for Princeton High, scored four goals — three in the first period — and added two assists.

John Drezner and Greg Hirsch each scored a pair of goals for Red and Tim Hoisington had one. Mike Schanon, Richard Warfield, Sam Reeves and Paul Soderman scored for Blue.

Navy took a 3-0 first period lead over Orange on a pair of David Barnes' goals and one by Tom Fowler, and made that margin stand up for the rest of the game for a 10-7 victory.

Barnes finished with four goals while Bryce Chase Sr. had two for Navy. Mace Mohrman, Hawley and Scott Waterman scored single goals for the victors.

Orange was paced by Tim Sheehan's two goals. Peter Scott, Greg Heher, Pat Sheehan, Tim Murdock and Chris Harford also scored for Orange.

NASSAU CLUB FIRST

In Off-Age Championships. In the Princeton Area Swimming and Diving Association off-age group championships held this month in the 25 meter Flemington-Raritan pool, the Nassau Swimming Club finished on top with 303 points.

It had 11 first-place winners and captured seconds and thirds in 20 other events. Second-place Cranbury trailed by 53 points (250) while West Windsor was third with 236 points. There are 22 member PASDA teams.

First places for Nassau included record-breaking efforts by Ann Healy, 17-u girls' 100 individual medley (1:15.8) and 50 breast (39.64).

what she calls "the physical phase" of her profession because there was more money there. And yes, she can drive a quick, straight nail with the best.

"I do nice work with my hands," she smiles. "I used to take home pieces of wood we didn't need. I would 'distress' the woods sometimes, and once I built a beautiful coffee table."

During the 12 years she had a summer place on the Delaware, she used to build bird-houses for her neighbors.

"It's my greatest hobby, but I don't do it much anymore — now I'd have to go out and buy the wood!"

Her other great interest is animals, and when she unlocks the door of her Hamilton Township home, there to greet her are the cats, Richard M. Nixon and Gypsy, and a female German shepherd with the unlikely name of Sherlock Holmes.

"'Holmes, baby' — that's the way I call her."

"When you can say you enjoy your job, that's 90 percent of the battle. You should be The Best on your job and love it, not just work for pay or a title. I sit back and reminisce — life has been good to me, I've had a lot of good people working for me, I love my work."

COSTUMES ON VIEW

At N.J. State Museum. In celebration of the international year of the child, an exhibition of children's summer costumes has opened in the main galleries of the New Jersey State Museum. The exhibition titled "The Good Old Summertime: Children's Costumes 1860-1930" will continue through October 7.

Guided gallery walks will be conducted through the exhibition at 1 p.m. Monday through Friday, beginning July 23 and continuing through August 3. Also, a 15 minute video-tape explanation of the exhibition by its designer, June Bove, will be available upon request.

The 23 costumes organized in six period vignettes ranging from 1860 through 1930 have been assembled from the collections of the Hermitage, Ho-Ho-Kus, New Jersey and the New Jersey State Museum by the Friends of the Hermitage. Of particular note are a woman's two-piece border-printed cotton dress worn over the full round hoops of the late 1850's, and a 13-year old girl's turquois and white tunic dress which retains the vivid colors of the day it was first worn 107 years ago.

The State Museum, a division of the New Jersey Department of Education, located at 205 W. State Street, Trenton, is open from 9 to 4:45 Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 weekends. There is no charge for admission.

Clarification

In an article in last week's Town Topics from Township Police Chief Frederick Porter cautioning residents to be on guard against soliciters who do shoddy driveway and roof repair, there is a reference to a large group of such operators known as the "Williamson Gang."

"In no way," commented Chief Porter, "is the name 'Williamson Gang' to be referred to a reputable company, Williamson Construction Company, 91 Leigh Avenue, Princeton." Williamson Construction is a building, roofing, driveway and solar heating contractor.
